Kyiv is the capital and largest city of Ukraine, located in the north central part of the country on the Dnipro River. The population is 2,887,974 people.

Kyiv's name is said to derive from the name of Kyi, one of its four legendary founders. Kyiv is one of the oldest cities of Eastern Europe, which was founded in 482 AD. Kyiv was the historic cultural center of the East Slavic civilization and a major cradle for the Christianization of Kyivan Rus'. Kyiv retained through centuries its cultural importance and even at times of relative decay.

The municipality of the city of Kyiv has a special legal status within Ukraine compared to the other administrative subdivisions of the country. Most important buildings of the national government (Cabinet of Ukraine, Verkhovna Rada, others) are located along Mykhailo Hrushevsky Str. and Institute Str. The city state administration and council is located in the Kyiv City's council building on Khreshchatyk Str.
